Youth Success

A young person came to the YES program seeking support and was struggling to engage. Throughout the course of working with a YSC and other supports, they were able to, not only catch up on school work they were behind on, but graduate early, obtain their driver's permit, enroll at a community college, and successfully complete probation. The young person expressed excitement for their future and gratitude for the YES program/YSC.

YES provided funding for a high school student to attend a UCLA business program. As a result, they are planning on going to college and reaching for their goals.

A young adult with a history of gang violence and substance use has been able to engage with YES, avoid substances and criminal activity. They are doing well in school and nurturing relationships with their family.

With the support of YES and another youth-serving partner agency, a foster youth was able to get their driver's license, obtain insurance in their own name as a minor, and purchase/register their own car, allowing them to gain independence and attend community college.

What Youth Are Saying...

“She really helped me in my placement and with my foster family. She and my social worker were absolutely amazing and made me not feel so alone. I speak Spanish and most other people around me don't.”

“She knew what it was like to have separated parents and made me feel like I had someone I could talk to about it. She also helped my dad to know how I felt about having to live in two places and my loyalty to both of my parents. I really liked talking to her and she helped me get into counseling which I wanted for a long time.”

“They were able to check in even if we weren't meeting just to see how I was.”

“I liked that he was comfortable speaking up about the things that I was uncomfortable talking about. Especially to my parents and in our family meetings. It helped me see that it's ok to have different opinions from everyone else, and that we can work through our differences.”

“It's like an additional support system and I really liked that.”
