

Disability Etiquette

Training Description

The Disability Etiquette training course will be a one-hour presentation to help participants in the community develop the fundamentals of disability etiquette, providing a comprehensive overview of different types of disabilities and detail how etiquette may vary depending on the specific type of disability.

Learning Objectives

Participants will be able to:

- Understand the significance of adhering to disability etiquette
- Recognize how disability etiquette may differ based on type of disability
- Gain a broader understanding of various disabilities

Education Goals

Participants will be able to:

- Develop an open way of thinking when it comes to all kinds of disabilities

About the Instructor

Alexa Guerrero with Placer Independent Resources Services (PIRS), graduated from Sacramento State. Guerrero has a passion to educate society about disability awareness in hopes that it can make a difference in how society views the disability community. This subject is important because of the prejudice she faces on a daily basis based on her movements and speech.
